A Time of Stress

Iran is at the focus of our astrological survey since the current Saturn Neptune opposition happens exactly across the country's natal ascendant axis. This opposition is additionally square Jupiter thus forming a stressing mundane t-cross.

Why me?

The astrologer's ascendant has a precise conjunction with Iran's own, thus both parties share a neat Saturn transit at the same time.

2006 HW51

Our focus as ever is on end of September 2006 when an object designated as 2006 HW51 is having its perihelion. This object is an "outer guardian" with extreme period and on its rare visit to the system towards September 30th 2006. We have seen that the Iranian president is not likely the one to "press the button". We can nevertheless predict with some conviction that aircraft activity is not bound to be safe especially for western spy planes end of September.

It is very likely that we shall miss a plane end of September 2006 and that would be only a slight inconvenience with colorful aspects and possibilities in the hands of a modern human warrior.
